

H2Ozarks Personally Identifiable Information Policy

What is Personally identifiable information (PII)?

Personally identifiable information (PII) is described as any representation of information that permits the identity of an individual to whom the information applies to be reasonably inferred by either direct or indirect means. Examples of PII include, but are not limited to name, address, phone number, credit card number, email address, or social security number.

What we collect:

We collect PII through online web forms, verbally over the phone, verbally or by written form in-person, and at times, unsolicited via electronic mail. The type of information we collect is determined by your purpose for interacting with H2Ozarks.

Items we may collect include, but may not be limited to, your name, mailing address, physical address, email address, phone number, and/or financial information provided by you. These items may be stored in our online database, in documents on-premises, or in documents on our internal server.

How we use your PII:

- Eligibility Determination – to determine eligibility to receive and/or participate in opportunities provided by our organization.
- Communication – to communicate events, stories, reports, opportunities, as well as other information via newsletters and/or email blasts.
- Event Registration – to track participants at H2Ozarks events and communicate with participants about current, past, and future events, and to accept and process payments when registration fees are applicable.
- Volunteer Opportunities – to inform you about H2Ozarks' volunteer opportunities and to communicate details of opportunities you have expressed interest in.
- Rebates – To process rebate requests you have applied for.
- Fundraising Events and/or Donations – to accept your financial support.

H2Ozarks strives to take all reasonable precautions to protect your PII.

H2Ozarks does not sell, rent, give away, or loan your PII without your consent, or use it for targeted marketing purposes.

By using our online web forms, or by contacting us directly, you consent to the collection and use of your personally identifiable information by H2Ozarks.
